LEADERSHIP FOR FRONT-LINE SUPERVISORS COURSE

REGISTRATION: <https://advancedpoliceconcepts.com>

May 5-6, 2026

INSTRUCTOR: Eric R. Stewart is a 38-year law enforcement veteran. Eric worked for the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department, the Aurora (Colorado) Police Department, where he retired as a Commander, and the Loveland (Colorado) Police Department. Eric served as LPD's Deputy Chief and Interim Police Chief. Eric earned a master's degree in leadership, is a graduate of the Police Executive Research Forum's (PERF) Senior Management Institute for Policing, and is a national instructor for the International Association of Chiefs of Police (IACP) Leadership in Police Organizations and First-Line Leadership courses. Eric has lectured and taught nationally on leadership, the application of the Fourth Amendment, and street gangs. Eric holds adjunct faculty positions at the Community College of Aurora and Regis University, where he teaches undergraduate- and graduate-level courses in leadership and supervision, communication, criminology, and criminal justice.

COURSE DESCRIPTION:

This two-day class focuses on how to be the best front-line leader you can be. Leadership is much different than Management. Understand that your Sergeant stripes never make you a leader. Your ability to lead is based on your level of dedication to your team and the relationships you build.

TOPICS INCLUDE:

- Leadership versus Management.
- Are you born with leadership skills or can they be forged?
- What is a Positional Leader?
- Influence versus Manipulation.
- First your Friends - Now your Subordinates. Leading with Subordinates, Peers, and Bosses.
- Let them win.
- Followership.
- Listen first then decide.
- Why is time on your side?
- Love and Accountability.
- Leadership growth - How is it accomplished?

COST: $325 PER STUDENT
